LOCAL NEWS.

If you see it in the Townsman, it's news to be relied upon; if it is news and so, you'll see it in the Townsman.

Band concert next Thursday evening. Be sure to pay your gas bill by Thursday, the 15th.

Edwin Reed, jr., is employed at the Tyer Rubber factory.

Pingree, P. A. '97, of Dartmouth, has been chosen substitute fielder of the All-American College team for 1901.

Services will be held in the Scotland schoolhouse on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mr. Shipman will preach the sermon.

The tennis tournament scheduled for tomorrow between the representatives of the Andover and Lynn Cricket clubs, at Lynn, has been postponed.

Joseph F. Cole has purchased the Michael Roach place on East Chestnut street. The sale was effected through Rogers' real estate agency.

The board of public works have just started a gang of men on South Main street, just beyond the Beard house, to put in over 250 yards of sewer main.

The pulpit at the Free church will be supplied next Sunday by Dr. I. N. Carleton of Bradford and the following Sunday by Prof. A. W. Burr, a brother of a former pastor of the West church.

William Findlay will remove from Bartlett street to the house on the corner of Summer street and Washington avenue, recently vacated by Joshua Paine, who has gone to his new cottage on Washington avenue.

A special meeting of the Andover Cricket club will be held in the club house, Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock sharp. As business of importance will be transacted, every member is urged to be present.

At the session of the Probate court held in Salem, Monday, the will of Joshua Milner was proved and inventories filed on the estates of Thirza J. Brown, $2782.58, and Johnson Phelps, $2157.37, all of Andover.

The rain and wind storm of Wednesday did considerable damage to gardens and farms in this vicinity. There were no serious washouts, however, on the roads. A large tree near Plato Eames' on Elm street was blown down during the gale.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Wiggin have gone to Concord, Mass., for a two weeks' visit. From there they will go to New Bedford, where they will make their home for the present. Their daughter Minnie is an instructor in Physics in the High school at that place.

The work of putting in the steam heating at the Seminary buildings is being somewhat retarded by the striking of a ledge in the grounds which will cause a large amount of drilling and blasting. The grounds present a rather torn up appearance just at present.

Fisherman's luck—bad luck this time—attended the fishing party under Chas. H. Shattuck, which went down to Marblehead, Wednesday. On account of the storm the skipper deemed it inadvisable to go out and the party spent the day at the beaches seeing the sights. William Brown, jr., and George Prescott were among the party who didn't go a fishing.

Marion Barnard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Barnard, observed her sixth birthday, Tuesday, by inviting a number of young friends to help her celebrate the event at her parents' home on High street. Over twenty young people were present and enjoyed the hospitality of their youthful hostess. Refreshments were served on the lawn and pleasant games were indulged in.

The Sunday School of the Baptist church will hold a basket picnic at Bailey's grove, Haggitt's pond, tomorrow. Barges will leave the church at 8.30 a. m. and 10 o'clock for the grove. There will be games and sports and a general good time is assured. The price for the round trip will be: Adults, 30 cents, children under fourteen years of age, 15 cents.

Contractor Whitney is rapidly pushing along the new gymnasium and by the end of next week the walls of the gymnasium proper will be up. Already enough has been built to gain a very good idea of the fine appearance of the new building. The frames for the large windows are being put in position and with the large force of workmen employed, the brickwork will soon be completed.

The workmen employed by the Gas company have been experiencing some hard digging in putting in the gas main from the Abbott Village centre to the top of Chandler's hill. The work has been going on now for two weeks and the top of the hill has not yet been reached. A solid ledge of rock has been encountered, running the whole length, and the workmen have been employed drilling and blasting. This is the toughest piece of digging yet encountered.

Mr. and Mrs. William Tracy and daughter Helen are spending the summer at South West Harbor, Me.

Fred H. Ladd, of the Lawrence Telegram, and family, will spend the next two weeks at Westport, Me.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Goff have gone to Nova Scotia for a vacation trip and will return along the Maine coast.

Frank Whiting started this week on a trip to the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo. He will also take a trip to Canada and down the St. Lawrence river.

The batters are up for the new residence to be erected by E. Rhodes Barton on the lot at the corner of Elm and Whittier streets. Work will be begun at once by contractor Carleton of Lawrence.

Miss Sarah Saunders, leaves Andover for New York next week, to meet an elderly wealthy lady, to whom she will act as companion. Miss Saunders' extensive knowledge of French gained her the appointment. In the early fall they will leave for the lady's home in California.

Mrs. Eva (Stark) Bannister, who is at present visiting at her uncle's, J. P. Wakefield, Maple Ave., received information Tuesday, that the will of Mr. O'Day of Chicago, she had been left the sum of $25,000. Mrs. Bannister has many friends here in Andover, her former home, who will rejoice over her singular good fortune.

Owing to the non-arrival of the new fire engine for the town of North Andover, until the 12th of August, the muster planned for tomorrow afternoon has been postponed until Saturday, August 24th. The local company will participate and the new engine will be given a chance to carry off the prize.

Superintendent Lovejoy is doing his annual job of cleaning the streets from the growth of grass. Central, Brook, School and the streets in that section have been cleaned and this week High, Maple Ave., Florence and others have been receiving treatment. The appearance of the streets certainly justifies the labor.

The Andover ball team have cancelled their game with the St. Charles team of Woburn, and will play the strong Fire Department team of Lawrence, on the Academy campus, tomorrow, at three o'clock. The battery for the firemen will probably be Laurendeau and Carroll and Reed and McNally for the town team. The firemen have a strong team and a good game is expected.

Floating Gardens in Russia.

In a practical paper in the August Century, on "America's Agricultural Regeneration of Russia," Alexander Hume Ford describes the floating gardens that are a feature of certain great Russian cities. Along these great water courses, which American gardeners are constantly deepening, are to be found the most extensive and productive farms of Russia. In a rich agricultural country, it is not surprising that a novel method of presenting object lessons to the tillers of the soil has been evolved.

The Russian educators, in casting about for the best means of economically fulfilling their mission, decided to experiment with immense floating gardens hundreds of feet in length. These great barges, built wide enough to give a comfortable area for the laying out of gardens, are launched with the breaking up of the ice. As these floating agricultural experiment stations drift down stream to warmer climes, the seeds sprout, and grain grows and eventually ripens.

On the deck of the great barge is an extensive building, the residence of the professors of agriculture who have the station in charge, and a smaller house for the crew. The size of these buildings, however, is dwarfed by the immensity of the barge. On its great, broad deck, besides the vegetable and grain beds, are various working models of beehives, for the government is bending every energy to revive this industry once famous in Europe, when honey mead was the national drink.

As the barge journeys with the current its stops at every village. The church bells ring, and the people gather from the fields to be led by the starosta or mayor, to the floating farm. They are invited aboard, where the various plans are explained to them, while illustrated lectures are sometimes given on the advantages of diversified farming. The questions of the peasants are intelligently answered, and seeds are often left with the most enterprising for planting.

So far the barge experimental farms have proved the most efficient method of spreading the new knowledge of farming in Russia, for the country is one vast plain. The great rivers flowing southward through the rich agricultural prairie take the form of a dense forest of central and northern Russia. Here the great barges are built late in the fall, the spring freshets are made to save the expense of launching, and when full of seed grain and of the seeds of the various crops, they drift southward, where work is done and thus made to pay the expense of the trip down stream.

Stranger Bought Spotted Broncho.

Walt Mason contributes to the Albany Magazine a short story entitled "The Spotted Broncho."

"Two fellows, let me sell you a horse. I'll give you such a bargain you'll talk about it all your born days."

The speaker, a tall, melancholy man in ragged garments, was leaning against the wheel of a canvas-covered wagon. His horse was lathered on the roadside, cropping the dusty grass. Several sore-footed, lean dog lay under the wagon, panting. The canvas of the vehicle was closely drawn, and from within came the sound of moaning and sobbing.

"Which horse d'ye want to sell?" he asked.

The spotted one, and a better chunk of horseflesh wasn't ever done up in hide. Sure, he looks a little tattered now; been on the road all the way from Oklahoma, and might be a little grain for him. But he's sound as a bullet and'll work any place you put him; single or double, don't make no difference. Hate to part with him; and that's a fact. Got to, though."

"He's curved in that off hind leg."

"Just a little; don't hurt him none. You can blister that curb off in ten days."

"He's too long in the back to suit me."

"Any horse looks long-jointed when he's poor. Tell you, stranger, if it wasn't for hard luck I wouldn't touch him. I've got to have the money."

"The cryin' in that wagon?"

"The woman. Gimme $5 for the pony and he's yours."

"I'll give you $10. That's more'n he's worth. He's old enough to vote, and he's bunged up in front, and no good anywhere. But he's an odd looking critter, and he looks like a little white spots and I'd like to have him for my boy. I'd like to have him $10 worth; no more. Say, what's that woman in there takin' on for?"

"She's in trouble. I'll split the difference, stranger; gimme $12.50 and take the horse. In a week you won't take $50 for him. I got to have the money; that's why I sell."

"I won't give more'n $10. But say, that woman must be sufferin' awful. What is the matter?"

"Come and see."

He pulled the canvas apart at the rear end of the wagon and stepped aside that the stranger might look in. A woman was weeping and wringing her hands over a child's form lying on a pile of horse blankets. The face of the child was drawn and white, but peaceful. The woman looked at the stranger with wide, unseeing eyes and wailed. The stranger, stepped back reverently and closed the canvas.

"Poor thing!" he whispered. "How long has the child been dead?"

"Three days," said the melancholy man in a broken voice. "The last of three; they all died on the road. I want to buy—a coffin—"

"I sorter think," said the stranger, choking slightly—"I sorter think that spotted broncho is just what my boy needs. Twenty-five dollars was your price, wasn't it? Well, I've sold a lot of hogs today, and I guess I can afford it. Here's your money. I'll just lead the blame beast home behind my buggy. So long."

"Come and see."

Of Interest to Women.

Kidskin and suede finished gloves are worn for three-quarters of the year. But when July and August are upon us and when June is really hot we turn to a more suitable covering for our hands out of doors.

"Gloving" gloves for summer are really made of silk. The backs and palms differ. The palm is firm and will stand the test of carrying a card case, prayer book or parasol and the backs are cool "open-mesh" weave. Lisle thread palms, which wear wonderfully well are stitched to a glove which has a coarsely woven silk back. This is the most comfortable glove for summer use.

The plan of hooking dresses up the back seems to be one of the French fads this season most of the French gowns being fastened in this way. It does away with many of the difficulties which the dressmaker encounters in trying to arrange the complicated fronts in nine cases out of ten it ruins the effect of the back, which is perhaps the most noticeable line in the gown.

The coronation robe of the Empress of Russia cost $200,000 and took something like 12 months to complete. The robe was covered with decoration of pearls and tiny diamonds, secured by a framework of golden wires so arranged as to fall into a conventional design. This decoration was the achievement of the modern scientific work, and while its completion consumed months of patient toil by the most skillful jewelers in Paris, the effect of the whole was that of elegant simplicity. At the coronation the czar was completely outdone by his wife in gorgeousness of attire. His crown, however, contained some magnificent gems. At the summit is a cross of five perfect diamonds and a pear-shaped ruby, reckoned to be the finest in the world.

A soft woolen cloth, plenty of rubbing, and one tablespoonful of vinegar mixed with three of pure linseed oil will make a mahogany dinner table shine like new. Piano keys when in need of cleansing should be wiped off with alcohol.

For sponging out bureau drawers and drawers of sideboards use tepid water, containing a 1 p. c. solution of carbolic acid, or if that is disliked, use a small quantity of thymol in the tepid water. Instead of paper some housewives line such drawers with white oil-cloth.

If the contents of the drawers are delicate waists or other articles likely to be injured by dust, it is a good plan to lay in the bottom of the drawer a piece of cheese-cloth as wide as the drawer, but twice as long, so that it can be folded over the top of things in the drawer.

Among the strictly feminine professions none is just now more lucrative than the manufacture of neckwear. The trade in neckties, collars and cuffs, sofa pillows and bureau scarfs with drawn work and floss flowers threatens to become a forgotten art since the demand for pretty hand-made collars, cravats, stocks, etc., far exceeds the supply.

Machine-made neckwear the well-dressed woman refuses to accept at any price. To her notion there is a set and sameness about it that falls utterly to pieces. Therefore, whatever she does about her neck must be hand-made, for this more or less shuts out the possibility of wholesale imitation of any particularly nice design.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years it was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by J. F. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address—

SHOULD KNOW THE LIMIT.

There is a certain girl in town who thinks that when a man invites a friend of her sex out to dinner he should "declare himself." That is, he should give her to understand whether or not she has carte blanche to order all she wants to eat and drink, irrespective of the cost. This fair one feels that she has a personal grievance and therefore, has a right to complain.

A young man from out of town invited the fair damsel, her sister and their aunt to dine with him the other day, and the invitation was accepted with some misgivings. "The young man does not look especially opulent," confided the girl to a friend, "and I never heard that he was rich, so all three of us, with feminine precipitation, instantly jumped to the conclusion that he had to struggle to keep the wolf from the door, and ordered accordingly. I was fearfully hungry, but I took all the reasonable things on the menu, the scrappy things I really did not care much about, and put away from me the more expensive viands as out of the question."

"Louise and Aunt Effie did the same and poor Mr. Blank nearly had apoplexy in his rage at what he called our birdlike appetites. When he came to pay for that meal he asked a roll of banknotes from his pocket as big as his wrist and since I have heard that he is a millionaire, and that to him a dinner to three women at a fashionable restaurant is a mere bagatelle."

"Maybe I haven't regretted my wasteful opportunity," said the frivolous maid, "and perhaps I haven't sighed over the delicacies that I did not consume on that fateful night, but I shall have nothing to regret in the future. I'll just frankly ask the next person who invites me to dine with him what his circumstances are, and act accordingly, that's what I will do."

He Cured Lockjaw.

There is an opening in Denver, O. a young ambitious man who is a specialist of offering himself up to test a new cure for lockjaw. The b. l. e. i. m. e. n. e. r. must be of sound mind and have his will already made out, for the cure is nothing less than the consumption of from 60 to 80 grains of hydrate of chloral. This is the plan of E. N. Bean of Petersburg.

"I was down in Louisiana in 1914," said Mr. Bean, "as a carpet bagger from the north, when the Ku Klux got after me. Those were troublous times and there was a lot of shooting going around then. Well, they shot me and the bullet went through my chest. I didn't get to the house for some time, as I was very weak from the wound, and when I got there I found that my lungs were setting fast with the lockjaw. I put a pencil in my mouth and kept it open, and when I got to the house, I found some arsenic there. I had heard that arsenic was a good cure for the lockjaw, so I took an ounce or two."

"Then I caught sight of some hydrate of chloral, and I thought that might be a good thing for the disease, so I took about 80 grains in a solution of water. Well, when the doctor came there was not any use for him, for the lockjaw was all right, and I was sleeping as sound as a lamb."

"Another time when I was down on the Red River, there was a mule of the party shot and took lockjaw. The poor beast was writhing and grinding in the ground when I came. I thought of the hydrate of chloral, and found that by good luck we had a supply of the stuff. Well, again I made a solution and I gave it to the beast, and in a few hours he got up and began eating at the trough. The mule was cured."

"Some time after that I met an old French doctor on a river steamer, and told him of the cures, and he was not a bit surprised. In fact, he told me that hydrate of chloral is an almost sure specific for lockjaw. He also said that it would cure consumption if taken in sufficient quantities, but the trouble with some folks was that they would never take enough, but stopped before the drug had time to act. He said it would also relieve one of most any disease, but that the medical fraternity had a foolish prejudice against its use."

"Out at Petersburg, the boys all josh me, and say that I tried it on two mules, but I know that if it once gets before the public it will get the attention of the people."

What is Ovaritis?

A dull, throbbing pain, accompanied by a sense of tenderness and heat low down in the side, with an occasional shooting pain, indicates inflammation. On examination it will be found that the region of pain shows some swelling. This is the first stage of ovaritis, inflammation of the ovary. If the roof of your house leaks, my sister, you have it fixed at once; why not pay the same respect to your own body?

OBSEQUIES.

The funeral of Mrs. Colcord was held Tuesday at 2 o'clock from the family home, 34 Butler street. Rev. Henry Oxnard, formerly pastor of the Water Street church, now of Newton, conducted the services, which were simple, but impressive. The body lay in a fine black broadcloth casket, with silver trimmings. The plate bore the inscription:

MRS. SARAH E. COLCORD.
Born January 1861.
Died August 4, 1901.

The casket was covered with beautiful flowers from neighbors, friends and relatives. Burial took place in Ridge wood cemetery, North Andover. The flowers comprised a beautiful pillow, from her bereaved family, inscribed "Mother"; basket, grandchildren; basket, Cousin Annie; pillow, Aunt Mary, Exeter, N. H.; spray of asters, Kitty, Mrs. Beedle; spray of pinks, Mr. and Mrs. Howarth; spray of white asters, Miss Shelton; bouquet, Mrs. Pagett.

LOCAL BEQUESTS.

By the will of William P. Frost of Lawrence, probated Monday at Salem, $500 is bequeathed to the First Universalist society of Lawrence, and $500 to the Lawrence Home for Aged People.

The will of Miss Harriet P. Fowler of Danvers was filed for probate at Salem yesterday. It is a rather unique will. The funeral was arranged for by the will. Miss Fowler named the pall bearers, the minister, the Maple street church, and desired notices of the funeral in a Danvers and a Salem paper. She further provided for a tombstone, and left a fund for cleaning it in a particular way every year.

She left a large and valuable collection of scrap books to the Essex institute in Salem, and some other things of historical interest. She left $3000 to the institute, the income to pay for an assistant to the secretary who should should her contributions to the institute to visitors. She also asked that her contributions be designated by proper labels.

LABOR DAY PICNIC.

COUNTY NEWS.

Edward Burron of Danvers was fined $100 by the district court yesterday for violating the liquor law.

William W. Denning has taken the Knight factory on Washington street Marblehead, and will manufacture shoes.

The work of laying the rails on the Exeter, Hampton & Amesbury electric road extension to Haverhill will begin next Monday.

The Salem police and Now and Then baseball teams will have another contest on the Bridge street grounds Saturday afternoon.

An explosion of a paint torch at the shop of the Boston Machine and Machine Company Monday frightened the employees, but did no serious damage, beyond blowing out some squares of glass.

The condition yesterday morning of Mrs. Alderman Desmond of Beverly was as comfortable as could be expected. An examination showed that her legs were broken above the knee. There are no internal injuries.

John Danforth, 14 years old, of Amesbury, while playing on a raft in the Powow river above No. 2 dam Tuesday, fell off and with great difficulty was rescued from drowning by Henry Kelly.

The new sketch by Harry C. Gaus of Salem entitled "Floyd Ireson" was issued yesterday. It does not purport to be a historical novel by any means, but just a sketch to picture the times and characteristics of his day to some extent.

A special meeting of the Salem board of aldermen had been called for this morning to act on the communication of the sewerage commission relative to the acceptance of the Legislature permitting the adoption by the city of some sewerage system.

Alderman Pinnock of Salem indignantly denies the report that the committee on fire department had practically purchased the four fire department horses in anticipation of the passage of the appropriation bill. The mayor's veto. The committee voted Monday night to advertise for bids for the horses.

Benjamin S. Banks, a lawyer of Philadelphia, died last Saturday night in the Salem hospital of typhoid fever. Mr. Banks was taken ill about a week ago, while on his way to Bar Harbor from Swampscott, where he had been stopping and was taken to the hospital in Salem for treatment. He is about 40 years of age and is survived by a wife and two children. The body was sent to Philadelphia Sunday afternoon.

There was a most enthusiastic meeting at the Okahawis canoe club house Monday night of the committee in charge of the annual large parade to be held Saturday evening of this week. The Beverly Cadet band has been engaged, and will play from 7 to 11 o'clock. From present indications there will be over 50 boats in line.

Samuel Dickey died quite suddenly at the Salem hospital Monday afternoon. Mr. Dickey had been employed by T. B. Broughton of Beverly delivering ice in Salem. Monday afternoon he was taken ill on the street and carried to the hospital, where he died within minutes. Heart disease is given as the cause. Mr. Dickey was a native of Amesbury. He belonged to Bass River lodge and Summit encampment of Odd Fellows of Beverly.

Schooner Hattie Heckman, Capt. Jos. Smith, arrived at Gloucester with one of the largest mackerel fares of the season. Everything on board, including the seine boat, was packed down with fish, 400 barrels of which were salted and 200 barrels fresh. They were taken on Georges in large schools. The crew was unable to find room for 20 barrels of fish in the seine and they were given to another vessel in the vicinity. The stock of the voyage will approximate $7000.

The annual muster of the New England Veteran Firemen's association will be held in Lynn on Thursday, and the city is beginning to assume a holiday dress, some of the stores already being decorated. Up to Saturday evening there had been an entire lack of rain expected. The playboys will be under the new rules, with an iron pipe substituted for the cotton hose ordinarily used. The pipe will be 60 feet long and 2 1/2 inches in diameter, with 30 feet of hose at the engine end and 10 at the playing end.

Fred J. Cushing, a contractor at Lynn, Sunday afternoon, discovered that his span of chestnut horses, with silver harness and blinkers, and a matted-tired carriage, were missing from his stable. The outfit is valued at $1500, and Mr. Cushing notified the police of Lynn and neighboring cities. Early Sunday evening Walter B. Mann, an employee of Mr. Cushing, returned home with the team, which he said he had taken to visit his mother in Melrose. Mr. Cushing, however, preferred a charge of larceny against him and he was locked up.

The Salem News says: "Business prospects in Beverly have not looked brighter in recent years than is the case at present. Nearly all of the shoe factories have large advance orders to fill, a fact that pleases both the manufacturer and employee. Beverly has for the past year been regaining much of the trade that has been lost to the city, which strayed away to other centers during and immediately following the labor troubles a few years ago. In its place, however, came the machine industry and the Consolidated and United Shoe Machinery company has made a decided change in the industrial character of the city. While the morocco industry has departed entirely, with the machinery industry has come an intelligent class, for to be a machinist one must have genius as well as brains. These with the high class of shoe help make Beverly a desirable place of residence. Beverly is also extremely fortunate in other directions. Its seven miles of beautiful seashore, with its millions of taxable property, also gives Beverly's future a decided advantage over its less fortunate neighbors."

The program was as follows: Singing, "Let music swell the breeze," Words of welcome. Duett, "Ashamed of Jesus." Miss M. Blunt and Mrs. F. Blunt of Andover. Miss Elizabeth Morton of Kentucky and Fred Lucier of Worcester, members of a vaudeville troupe playing at Plum Island, were married yesterday by Rev. Charles P. Mills of Newburyport, in the presence of a number of friends.

The Salem committee on military affairs Tuesday evening made arrangements for the visit of the city council to Cadet camp next week. The official visit was made today, but the members may go on any other day they wish. Only members are invited.

At a meeting of the Lesters' Protective union, just adjourned in Haverhill, John P. Baur of Marblehead was re-elected national organizer, and with two exceptions, the old executive board was re-elected. The password was abandoned and the due card system adopted.

The board of aldermen of Salem held a special meeting this week, and by a vote of 5 to 1 accepted the legislative act relative to a sewerage system and the North river. The vote for acceptance was Doyle, Chapin, Pinnock and Tracy against acceptance, Fowler, Bodwell.

Pictures of the justices of the supreme and superior courts have been hung in the private office of Clerk of Courts George, Salem. Fine portraits have been issued of Chief Justice Holmes of the supreme court and of former Chief Justice Field. It is desired to have them hung in the judge's room in the court house. The room is devoid of ornaments and looks as bare as a barn.

Pres. Charles Howard Poor of the Haverhill and Southern New Hampshire road admitted Monday that Wallace D. Lovell of the Exeter & Hampton road had purchased the former road, although the papers to that effect have not as yet been passed. While in Haverhill Monday afternoon, Mr. Lovell stated that the road would be in running order by next month, and work will be started at once in laying the tracks from the Exeter & Hampton street railroad crossing. The railroad commissioners have refused a location of the tracks over the crossing and a transfer system will be employed. This will not be done now, as the tracks will end at the Winter street crossing.

A double drowning occurred at Amesbury in the Merrimack river yesterday noon, by which Charles Usher, aged 18, of Commercial street, and Buel Smith, aged 8 years, of Philadelphia, lost their lives. Buel Smith is a grandson of ex-Gov. Buel of New Hampshire, and had been a pupil in Mr. Usher's school at Pleasant Valley for instruction in agriculture. He was playing on the banks of the river in company with his nurse, when he ran away and got into a boat, from which he fell into the water. Usher was unable to keep the boy afloat, and in the excitement both were drowned. The body of young Usher was recovered in half an hour, but all efforts at resuscitation were of no avail. The other body had not been recovered yesterday afternoon.

The sound of six revolver shots fired in rapid succession and then the sight of a man rushing wildly down the street, suddenly turning a corner and jumping into a carriage, created a sensation in East Lynn Tuesday morning about 2 o'clock. Councilman Harry R. Corbett lives at 26 Chadwell crescent. In the darkest hour of the morning he was aroused by the sound of footsteps beneath his window, and the came what he believed was the turning of the lock in the kitchen door. He jumped to his feet and in an instant had a loaded revolver in his hands. Running to the window he discharged his weapon several times at the form just discernible in the dim light, and at the same time cried loudly that burglars were attempting an entrance into his house. The shots and the cries awoke the 20 neighbors, and a number of citizens, headed by Mr. Corbett, began a search for the man, who all believed had tried to effect an entrance into the councilman's house. Policemen who heard the firing ran hurriedly to the place and joined in the chase. While all was in confusion and excitement at the station and Lieut. Jordan was expected any moment to see the thieves brought in, a man considerably excited rushed in and announced that a man had fired a revolver at him. He was recognized as T. J. Thornton, a milkman, and he said that as he was delivering milk on Chadwell crescent he was suddenly confronted with a revolver and somebody fired at him repeatedly from an upper window. He thought he had been shot, but when asked by the officers there were no bullet holes through him, left to continue his delivery. The officers hunting for the burglar were called off.

A CURE FOR CHOLERA INFANTUM.

"Last May," says Mrs. Curtis Baker of Brookwater, Ohio, "an infant child of our neighbor's was suffering with cholera infantum. The doctor had given up all hopes of recovery. I took a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to the house, telling them I felt sure it would do good if used according to directions. In two days the child had fully recovered and is now (nearly a year since) a vigorous, healthy girl. I have recommended this Remedy frequently and have never known it to fail in any single instance." FABLE.

Now the Horse, being sensitive to ridicule, paused as they were about to enter the gates of the city. "You look so like 30 cents," protested the Horse, "regarding painedly the worst driving." "We money's supposed to make the mare go," retorted the woman with a loud laugh.

Saying which, she belabored the beast vehemently. The fable teaches that the gift of speech is not of necessity fortunate.—Detroit Journal.

HE DEFINED "SPINSTER."

A correspondent sends a hot weather aberration on the part of an office-boy, which is a lesson in derivation. He brought some deeds, the signatures to which had been attested by a lady who had not appended her description. "Was she a spinster?" the boy was asked. "Yes, sir, she rides a bicycle," he replied readily. "Spinster—a lady who goes for a spin." is a definition both reasonable and novel.—London Globe.

She—Not quite as bad as you feel when your friend Jenkins beats you at poker.—Ohio State Journal.

METHUEN.

Appropos the finding of an $8 continental bill in Exeter by Bertram L. George of this town last Saturday, it may be of interest to know that there are other bills of the same denomination owned by a local party. Albert L. Dame has eight or ten bills of the Continental make in his possession, included among which are an $8 and a $4 bill. These are in excellent condition. Besides these relics, Mr. Dame is in possession of a hundred or more one cent pieces which are of much interest. One of these latter belongs to the first series of the specie ever struck off by the United States. It is a large coin, as large as a 50-cent piece, and bears the date 1787. Upon struck side, the inscription "Mind your Business," which was the motto of Benjamin Franklin. There are a number of pieces in the collection of a political nature, inscribed with cartoons and "take offs" on the political subjects, and they form an interesting series. These were coined mostly during the discussion on the money question in the 30's and early 40's and the cartoons have reference to this question.

In police court, yesterday, before Judge Rogers, Henry Lange was fined $4 for assault upon Fred Unger, the latter a boy of about four years. The defendant claimed that he had been pushed and that Unger's father had been having considerable trouble with each other lately, with the result that Lange met the Unger boy on the street and boxed his ears, for which he was arrested on complaint of the child's parents. He paid the fine. In the evening another session of police court was held, when Phillip Dufourier and Edward St. Peter, who were engaged in a disturbance in Parker's court, Sunday morning, were arraigned on the charge of interfering with the peace. Officer McDermott stated that he was near Odd Fellows block when he heard the disturbance and when he arrived on the scene the men tried to escape. He arrested the two defendants, who were in court. While arresting them Mrs. St. Peter ran up to the officer and struck him. No charge was made against her but she was asked to explain her conduct in court, which she did by saying she was excited because her child had been pushed aside by the officer. The defendants were each fined $5 on the charge of drunkenness, which they paid.

BRIDGE TO BE BUILT.

The indications are now that the bridge over the Boston and Maine railroad near the Central fire station at Washington square will soon be built, as agreed between the town and the Boston and Maine R. R., some time ago. It is the intention of the town to build the bridge over the railroad tracks, as the Boston and Maine railroad company offered to construct the bridge which was to do away with the open space between the bridge on Lowell street and on Osgood street, which exists at present, making one continuous bridge over the enclosure, on condition that the town should accept the bridge as a public highway, and keep it in repair and exempt the railroad company from all responsibility for damages thereon. Later the railroad company withdrew this offer, and offered to pay for half the cost of construction of the proposed bridge, provided that half did not exceed $500. This proposition was agreed to by the town, and at the spring town meeting an appropriation of $500 was made by the town to defray the expenses of the construction. It was then necessary to lay the matter before the county road commission to get their sanction, and the location would be accepted by them as a public highway. A hearing was held, and nothing further had been done regarding the matter until this week, when the county commissioners sent the railroad officials and the selectmen their decision permitting the location to be laid out as a public highway. There is now nothing to prevent the construction of the bridge. It is probable that the bridges on Lowell and Osgood streets will be left substantially as they are at present, and the only change will be in taking down the fences between these bridges and the planking over the open space, making one continuous bridge from the north end of Lowell street to the southeast side of Osgood street. The estimated cost of this construction as made by the B. & M. R. R. company is $1040. The cost may not, however, exceed $500 as when the railroad company made the estimate it was expected that it would be necessary to dig down in the ground and place a large stone foundation there, in order to erect the necessary pillar for the support of the bridge, but it is found that there is a solid ledge inside the bridge at this place, so that this extra work will be unnecessary. It is expected that the work will begin before long.

STRANGE INDEED.

"Queer she never got married. She's so capable and resourceful a woman—so earnest and forceful!"
"Is she?"
"Oh, yes, indeed. She's the kind of a woman who can look out for herself. Why, she knocked a man down once when he tried to flirt with her, she took a horsewhip to a fellow who spoke of her in a derogatory manner and she drove a pedler four blocks with a mop."
"Yes, yes," he returned thoughtfully; "it is strange that no one ever has seemed to want her for a wife, isn't it?"—Chicago Post.

"Ask Mr. Walsh."

"Ask Mr. Walsh" is a stock saying at the bureau of navigation in the navy department when anything is missing or hard to find; and as is usual with stock sayings, there is a story behind it. One day the bureau sent a telegram to the commandant of a certain navy yard, instructing him about an important matter, and ordering him to acknowledge receipt of the instructions by wire. There was no answer, but several days after the acknowledgment was received by mail. Adm. Crowninshield, the chief of the bureau, was indignant and a hot message was sent to the commandant, demanding to know why he had not obeyed the order of the department on such an important matter. Back came a pretty tart reply, announcing that a telegram had been sent promptly on receipt of the instruction.

The bureau instituted a search and finally found that a telegram had been sent through the Western Union to Acting Sec. Hackett, and received by "M. Walsh." No such man was known, and no one could be found who knew him. Finally Mr. Hackett was appealed to.

"Why, yes," said he, "that's my coachman."

Thereupon Mr. Hackett was adjured to call up his coachman on the telephone and solve the mystery. He rang up his house and directed that "Mike" be summoned to the 'phone.

"Mike," said he "have you any telegrams for me?"

"No, sir," was the answer. "Hould on—faith, mebbe I have. Wait till I search me coat."

Mr. Hackett held the 'phone and presently Mike's voice said: "Hello! Is that you, sir? Yes, found a tellygram. It come fr ye three weeks ago."

It was the commandant's telegram. Now "M. Walsh" is the department synonym for disappearance of mystery.

THE WORST.

"Don't you know that smoking gives a man catarrh, bronchitis, tonsillitis and weakens his nervous system and that may bring on cerebro spinal meningitis?"

"Yes," answered Mr. Meekton, gloomily, "and that isn't the worst of it. It spoils the lace curtains."—Washington Star.

IF JUSTICE WERE DONE.

Wimple—"Have you noticed that nearly every story of Pickley's recalls one by somebody else?"

Dimple—"Yes. He ought to be arrested as a 'second-story' man."—Judge.

Proper Picture Frames

If all frames were alike it would not matter where you had them made. But they are not alike. There is as much difference as there is in the people that order them. Our frames are not only low in price, but they are artistic in make-up and give proper effect to the picture. It wouldn't be a bad idea to give us a chance to show you how "different" ours are from the other fellows.

Car Delayed Traffic.

Last Saturday evening travel on the street railway from the hill to the square was delayed by car No. 197 leaving the rails in front of the residence of W. H. Gile. Workmen had connected the newly laid portion of the tracks with the old so that the cars might run through to the top of the hill for the heavy Sunday travel and it was while going on the new rails that the accident occurred. Fortunately there happened to be a car on the hill so that passengers were saved a long walk. A wrecking gang arrived from Lawrence later in the evening but it was not until early Sunday morning that the derailed car was again placed on the rails. Another of the new cars delayed travel on Tuesday morning by leaving the rails in front of the Bookstore. The car was full of people bound Bostonward and they evidently didn't relish the delay. Supt. Nowell was on hand on both occasions and did everything in his power to expedite matters.

Obituary.

DAVID MIDDLETON.

One of Andover's oldest and most respected citizens passed peacefully away last Thursday evening after an illness which had confined him to the house since last December. The news of the death of Mr. Middleton came as a shock to very many, yet hardly as a surprise on account of his feeble condition for some time. His death is a distinct loss to the community.

Mr. Middleton was born in Breechin, Scotland, Dec. 11th, 1814, but left his native land for America in 1839, arriving in Andover just 62 years ago. He entered the employ of the Smith & Dove Mtg Co., and later became head of the bleaching department at Frye Village, a position he held until the removal of the plant to Abbott Village in 1895, resigning on account of failing health. He was still retained by the company and he all but completed 62 years of continuous service. By his thorough application to duty and his desire to improve himself in his business by constant reading, he became a trusted and valued official of the Smith & Dove company.

In the early days of the company in Frye Village, Mr. Middleton took a lively interest in all that pertained to the uplifting of the young and old, morally and intellectually, and through his efforts he established the Frye Village Library and Reading room and organized the evening school in which he became a teacher.

Mr. Middleton was never prominent in town affairs, politically, but he was on the building committee of the Memorial Hall and was also a trustee for a number of years, a position his literary tastes made him particularly well fitted for. By the death of Mr. Middleton the Free church loses its staunchest friend and ablest counsellor. For a number of years he held the office of deacon and was also the clerk of the society for a quarter of a century. His faithfulness and sound judgment made him an advisor in all the church's undertakings.

Mr. Middleton was a remarkable man in many ways. Strong in his American citizenship his great love for his native land only intensified that strength, following the affairs of his adopted country closely up to the time of his death. His great sociability made him especially sought after by old and young; his great knowledge of things in general gained by extensive reading by men in high standing in the community; for Mr. Middleton was a self made man. Without a grain of religious pretentiousness he was imbued with that Scottish spirit of uprightness and integrity which made him a type of the highest manhood. Truly no better epitaph could be his than the words of St. Paul, "Not slothful in business, fervent in spirit, serving the Lord." Mr. Middleton is survived by his wife, seven grandchildren, and several great grandchildren.

The funeral services were held at his late home on Haverhill street last Saturday afternoon. Rev. F. A. Wilson, his pastor and friend, conducted the services, which were largely attended by relatives and townspeople. A quartet from the church consisting of Miss Coutts, Mrs. Mabel Pike, William Scott and William Coutts sang "Lead Kindly Light" and "Peace, Perfect Peace." Two favorite hymns of Mr. Middleton's, "The floral tributes were many and beautiful, peculiarly fitting to one so fond of flowers as the deceased. The bearers were Thomas David, William Angus, Andrew Kydd and William Clark. Burial was in the family lot in the West Parish cemetery.

New Teacher at Phillips.

John Ernest Lansing, who will, at the opening of the academy next September, be added to the teaching staff, has had a thorough training in the special branches he will teach. Mr. Lansing belongs to Brookline and prepared for college at the Boston Latin School which he attended four years, later going to the Cambridge Latin school, graduating in 1894 after two years study. The following year he spent at the Cambridge High and Manual Training schools, doing work which enabled him to anticipate two courses in German and one in Chemistry.

In the fall of 1895 he entered Harvard college, graduating in 1898. Magna cum Laude, completing the course in three years and taking a broad general course. The year 1898-99 he spent abroad in travel returning the following year, to enter the Harvard Graduate school, taking two courses and a half in chemistry, one in Physics and one in the History of Education. He graduated in 1900 with the degree of A. M.

During the past year he has been studying Chemistry and Physics at Harvard and teaching and observing two mornings a week chiefly in physics in the science department of the Chelsea High school. Mr. Lansing, it will be seen, is particularly well qualified for the position as assistant to Prof. Graves and Mr. Graham in the science department.

New Filter Works Well.

The new filter at the brook in Bailey's Grove at Haggatt's Pond is now in operation and according to reports is doing the work expected of it. While all of the brooks entering the pond are full of the vegetable matter, the brook in the grove is the only one which is near enough the suction pipe to do any harm. Superintendent Smith is confident that the disagreeable taste and odor is now overcome.

Martin Walker, a former resident of Ballardvale, committed suicide by shooting, at the home of his sister in Weymouth, Monday. He has been in ill health for some time and had recently gone to his sister's from a Boston hospital. Deceased was a member of Andover Lodge, I. O. O. F., and at a special meeting held Tuesday evening, it was voted to send a delegation to attend the funeral of the deceased which was held at Saugus, Wednesday afternoon. Walker was employed here in town, working at one time at Bemis' Market and also on the town teams.

AMONG NEW HAMPSHIRE HILLS

Idlewild Camp, Second Connecticut Lake, Coos County, N. H., August 5th, 1901.

To the Townsman readers:

Noon. About twenty-five miles from nowhere, but a good deal of it, what there is here!

As I sit down to write to the Andover friends who may be interested to learn what the Townsman scribe is doing on his yearly outing, the familiar ballad, "Far Away Among the Hills of Old New Hampshire," comes very vividly to my mind, for hills, an endless succession of them, have passed in panorama ever since we left the lower part of the Granite State on our way to the extreme northern portion which is to be our abiding place until Saturday.

By we, I mean my good friend and your well known fellow-townsmen, Mr. H. F. Chase, who inveigled (?) me into accompanying him to this jumping-off place, the border line between the United States and Canada. Nor am I a bit sorry that he did finally persuade me for the sample of what is in store for us during the rest of our stay here has been mighty attractive, altho' we have really had only a day of it so far.

When it becomes known that we left Andover Saturday morning at nine o'clock, you will wonder, if you noticed the date and time of the day set forth in the superscription, where we have been all the time that I write after only a day's experience. But perhaps you took into consideration the opening clause of the first paragraph, "twenty-five miles in the wilderness," for that covers, like the cloak, "a multitude of sins."

Briefly, let me tell you of our all day trip to West Stewartstown, N. H., where we found on arrival at 6:00 p.m., that it would be preferable that the journey to our destination end for the time being. The morning of Saturday last was what might truly and without exaggeration be called "showery." We felt sorry for the South church pioneers, but a little water, more or less, did not bother us in the least, after we had been kindly conveyed to the station between drops and deposited in good season for the train. By way of Lowell Junction, Lowell was soon reached and there a wait of nearly an hour confronted us. The time soon passed, however.

Boarding the big mountain train from Boston, drawn by a strong and robust young engine, a ten-wheeler, plenty of room was found in the smoker to secure our comfort. That this was the only car on the train not crowded to the aisles was evident by the presence of several ladies in the rear seats, who evidently preferred a little smoke to the fatigue of standing up. Along the side of the beautiful Merrimack river, past the famous Tyngsboro bend, catching a glimpse soon after of the buildings of the Lowell Country club at Tyngs Island, we soon came to Nashua. The weather promised clearing skies before long, so they did all day, but it was mostly promise until late in the afternoon when the sun came out in good earnest.

Still we sped along beside the Merrimack, through Manchester to Concord. Laconia was reached on time at nearly twelve o'clock and at Lakeport, Lake Winnepesaukee began to unfold itself before our admiring eyes. Here, also, the hills and mountains commenced to give an indication of what was to be expected during the rest of the day. At the Weirs, the lake is most beautiful with its fine hotels, summer residences, elegant private launches, and commodious lake steamers.

It was certainly dinner time when the train pulled into Plymouth at 1:05, five minutes late. During the half hour for refreshments we tried their famous chicken pie. Sample them yourself sometime; they are excellent. Now the mountains began to assume more majestic proportions and the scenery, constantly shifting and always changing, was most beautiful. In one place we passed a dilapidated covered bridge across a little, purring stream in a little village with a square, white towered church close by, and hills, high ones, everywhere. Again the train rushed by a lovely spot where a river went roaring over a dam to some gorge below.

At White Mountain Transfer, a lighter engine was attached to the train, a portion of which had been left at Plymouth, the steeper gradients having been passed. "Wing Road!" "Wing Road!" in stentorian tones, was the signal for a change of cars, which was followed by other changes at Whitefield Junction and Coos Junction, at the latter place from the Boston & Maine to the Maine Central. The latter road is not nearly as pleasant to ride over as the Boston & Maine on account of the roughness of the roadbed and amount of dust and cinders.

Nothing eventful happened on this portion of our journey with the exception that we passed at Maidstone a saw mill beside which was piled up thousands of cords of logs cut into small sections which we were told would be made up into pulp. The train was running beside the Connecticut river which rises at the lakes at which we are located. Just above the saw mill the river was literally choked with logs so that not a bit of water could be seen. The other interesting, or perhaps I should say pitiful, scene was passed shortly before we reached our journey's end. A little colt, perhaps six months old, had made its way outside the pasture in which its mother and other horses were grazing, and frightened at the approach of the train, had tried to get in by the mare's side. Poor unfortunate, as the train went past, almost stopping as if the engineer had half a mind to succor him, the passengers saw the little fellow caught and held cruelly by the neck and foreleg between the wicked barbed wire fence. It is to be hoped that a man who got off at a little station up the road took pity on him and performed a deed of kindness by walking back the half mile or so to release him from his predicament. Shortly after we were dropped at West Stewartstown where the carriage for the lake was to be taken.

The decision having been reached that it would be preferable to stop over night in this place rather than take a 26 mile carriage drive over a country road, up hill and down, through woods much of the way, we were driven to Pike's hotel, a brand new structure, where first class accommodations awaited us. The hotel,

Summer School at Phillips.

The Andover Summer school promoted by Alfred E. Stearns, registrar at Phillips Academy and Archibald Freeman instructor in History at Phillips opened in the Academy buildings last Thursday, with a gratifying number of pupils.

The object of this school is to furnish, at moderate prices, systematic tutoring to such boys as find it necessary to resort to summer work in order to meet the increasing demands of the leading colleges in the matter of entrance requirements. The school is in charge of the following corps of competent instructors who have had long experience in preparing boys for college in the subjects which they teach.

History—Archibald Freeman, instructor in History, Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass.

It is the aim of the instructors of the Andover Summer school to furnish, during the session of the school, courses that shall cover as thoroughly as possible all subjects required for entrance examinations to the leading colleges. Each boy may select any or all subjects in which he is deficient. The school will be in session until September 12th.

Mr. Stearns is very well pleased with the opening, the numbers attending being in excess of his expectations, since the school was not very extensively advertised until quite late in June. About two-thirds of the pupils are P. A. students, while the balance are from various places, including a Costa Rican and a Japanese. More pupils are expected next week.

Program for Concert.

The next band concert will be held in the Square, next Thursday evening, Aug. 15, weather permitting. Bandmaster Bliss announces the following attractive program:

March, The Morning Light, E. E. Bagley
Overture, Sporting Life, arr. E. Beyer
Waltzes, Myrtle, Paul Laurence
Song and Dance, Down on the Lawn, J. E. Campbell
Beyond the gates of Paradise, Robert A. King
Polka, Forest Bird, Doyt
Medley, A July Night, Beyer
Finale, When Reuben comes to Town, Maurice Levi

The largest crowd of the season listened to the concert last evening, which was fully appreciated. All the popular airs were played as well as several classical selections. The band were generous in the encores, the audience appreciating their efforts to please.

An interesting letter from George Nice, who is on the Annapolis in the Philippines, is held till next week on account of lack of space. Mr. Nice was in the swimming party which was attacked by sharks, an account of which is in today's Boston papers.

Disappointed by Rain.

The large and expectant group of children and grown people which assembled at the station last Saturday, to enjoy a day's outing at Canobie lake, were unfortunately doomed to disappointment, for just previous to train time rain fell in torrents, and those in charge of the South church Sunday school picnic ordered the special train to be held at Lawrence and informed the pioneers that, should the weather clear off, they would go on the 1:00 o'clock train in the afternoon. The children were naturally very much disappointed for they had visions of a whole day of genuine fun.

In the middle of the day the sun came out, but only about half of those who intended to go went up on the afternoon train. Those who did go, however, enjoyed themselves to the full and crowded all the amusements afforded at the grove into the short time at their disposal. The skating rink and bowling alley were largely patronized as were also the boats and steamer.

A long list of sports was arranged and these were brought off most successfully. Roderick Cannon proved himself to be the big gun among the athletes. The boat race was between the classes in the Sunday school and was won by the representatives of Mr. Allen's class.

The winners of the different events were as follows:

100 yards dash for boys over 16—Roderick Cannon, first; Malcolm McTernan, second.

Broad jump for boys over 16—Roderick Cannon, 16 ft., 5 in.; William Hardy, 15 ft., 5 in.; Carl Cannon, 15 ft., 5 in.

Broad jump for boys under 16—Clarence Pierce, 12 ft., 11 in.; Howard Bell, 12 ft., 10 in.; Ray Cole, 12 ft., 5 in.

There was also a peanut race, for girls. Badges were presented the winners.

An exciting baseball game was played between nines captained by Will Hardy and Roderick Cannon, which the former won by a score of 7-4. The nines were composed as follows: Hardy's—Wilcox, p; Hardy, c; G. Lawson, 1b; Chandler, 2b; Barton, 3b; Abbott, ss; Ray Cole, cf; R. Bailey, rf; Howard Bell, lf. Cannon's nine—Carl Cannon, p; Roderick Cannon, c; G. D'Arcy, 1b; Phil Jenkins, 2b; M. McTernan, 3b; Phil Foster, ss; Grosvenor, rf; Pierce, cf; Leslie, lf.

The party returned by special train, leaving Canobie at 6:30 o'clock. All who went thoroughly enjoyed themselves in spite of the disappointment in the morning. The committee in charge consisted of C. H. Shearer, transportation; Willis B. Chamberlain, boats; Dr. A. I. Mackintosh, sports; Florence L. Abbott, lemonade.

altho' almost on the border line of Canada, is lighted by electricity and has fine sanitary arrangements, made possible by the town water supply, consisting of pure, sparkling "Adam's ale," brought into town by pipes from springs on the mountains. No fire engine is needed in this town as the pressure from the hydrants is sufficient anywhere. Electricity, also, is a cheap article as the Connecticut river, tumbling over a dam, makes the power. The river divides New Hampshire and Vermont, so after supper we stepped across into another state.

After planning for an early start in the morning, we retired early to bed. Rose at 5 o'clock; breakfast at 5.30, and at 6.15 began our long ride "over the hills and far away" to the heart of the wilderness, found at the Second Connecticut lake, and driven by the genial manager of Pike's, Mr. R. C. Sanborn.

It would be almost impossible to describe the beauty or attractiveness of that drive; the variety of scenery and changeable character of the country. Suffice it to say that we arrived at 10.45 o'clock, having been about four and one-half hours on the road. The First Lake is two thousand feet above sea level and the Second Lake, about eight miles from First, is twenty-three hundred feet above sea level. The Third Lake, twenty-seven hundred feet above sea level, is about seven miles above and we shall visit it later.

Idlewild Camp, where we were to stop, is a commodious building capable of accommodating thirty guests, and you may be sure that Mr. O. C. Bumford, the proprietor, takes the best of care of his patrons. The rooms are airy, the beds comfortable and board excellent. From the piazza is to be had one of the finest views of forest landscapes in New England. The house stands on an elevation facing the lake which, at this point, is about two miles wide. Beyond this for miles and miles are range after range of hills, covered with forests from base to summit, while in the distance looms up old "Camel's Rump," over the summit of which runs the "line" between New Hampshire and Maine. At its base is "East Inlet," a stream noted as the feeding ground of deer, while caribou and moose are even now frequently seen and photographed. We hope to visit this inlet later on.

Before dinner, Mr. Sanborn and Mr. Chase got into one Rangeley boat almost as light as a canoe and one that can be either rowed or paddled, while "yours truly" got into another by himself. We paddled across the lake and a short distance up the stream toward Third Lake. We saw plenty of birds but no deer. But our anticipations of a view of the deer in their free, untrammelled state were soon to be realized. My friend Chase was first to get his peepers on the real article across the lake feeding upon the opposite shore. Unfortunately I was not in season to see these, but before night we had seen by glass or paddled within easy rifle range of more than a dozen. According to an Andover lady who has visited here, "the deer parade the beach at 3 p. m.," but all afternoon seems to be their exhibition time. We had lots of fun stalking the deer Sunday afternoon with a camera but were not as successful as we might have been. However we expect better luck later. We also tried a little fishing, but it being Sunday, the fish would not bite. There are plenty of trout here for we saw a three and a half pounder, a brook trout, and several smaller ones, captured a day or so ago, and we mean to catch some before returning to Andover.

At the house at the present time are about a dozen or fourteen guests, altho' there are some going this forenoon. Others, including Governor Jordan of New Hampshire, are expected later in the week. Among those here at present are: Judge A. S. Bancher, one of the most prominent lawyers of New Hampshire; Mr. Anderson of Littleton, N. H.; Mr. and Mrs. Eben E. Noyes of Colebrook, N. H.; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Day, also of Colebrook, N. H.; Mr. and Mrs. Albert O. Shaw, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Bridges of Colebrook, N. H.; Miss Jennie Van Dyke of West Stewartstown, N. H.; and Rev. and Mrs. Herbert Gleason of Colebrook, N. H.

The mail facilities in this place are limited. This letter mine host Bumford will carry to the post office ten miles away this afternoon.

By the way, before finishing, Mr. Chase wanted me to mention the rabbits, quantities of which hop about within twenty yards of the house. Mr. Bumford wishes they weren't so saucy and common, for they have completely ruined his garden.

This story has strung itself out to tedious lengths, I am afraid, but if possible, and anything interesting transpires, I shall try the best nature of the good people of Andover by a continuation next week. For the present, "sufficient and for the day."

Yours cordially,

HERBERT S. STILLINGS.

NEW BOILERS.

The present very prosperous condition of the local plant of the American Woolen company is an interesting topic in mill circles. The condition is most gratifying and the outlook is very bright.

An idea of the enormous increase in the output of the Washington mills may be had from the fact that against over 60,000 yards of cloth made in four weeks in 1891, the amount woven during the corresponding four weeks during the present year is over 1,000,000 yards. It seems almost incredible that the mill should have made such wonderful progress during the last decade, but it is a fact and the condition reflects great credit upon the able management of Treasurer W. M. Wood of the American Woolen company, and Agent James Ingram of the Washington plant.

At the present time nearly 5500 hands are employed at the local mills of the company and the weekly payroll is over $40,000. Three quarters of a million pounds of wool are used each week and the amount of cloth finished is about a quarter of a million yards.

The steam plant at the Washington is to be extended by the installation of 4500 H. P. additional boilers for which the contract has already been placed with the Boston offices of the Green Fuel Economizer company. For several years the company has had in the local plant 1500 Economizers and the satisfaction with them has been complete.

In an interview, Agent Ingram said: "It is true that a contract has been given and I expect to get the apparatus in so as to get the benefit from them this fall and winter."

The agent was asked if he was aware that the competitors of the American Woolen company are trying to figure how much the company is losing by the reduction in prices which are causing such widespread attention and comment at the present time, and he replied: "The prices are perfectly satisfactory in every way. They were never more so since I have been connected with the Washington mills."

CASE OF SUICIDE.

Dennis Hickey, aged 23, son of Undertaker John Hickey, committed suicide by shooting himself in the yard of his father's residence at 46 Hampshire street early Tuesday morning. The act was committed, it is supposed about 12.30 o'clock this morning, and the body of the victim was not discovered until after daylight. Neighbors saw the boy lying upon the lawn and notified the father. The police and medical examiner were summoned and after a hasty examination of the body it was decided that the wound had been self-inflicted. Undertakers Conlon and Ryan were called and took charge of the remains. No one seems to have heard the shot which ended the young man's life except Officer Adam Wuest, who thought he heard a shot fired at 12.30 o'clock but was unable to locate it. He reported the matter at the station.

A revolver was found on the ground beside the body and the indications were that life had been extinct some time.

Young Hickey has been living away from home for some years and was employed at Ford Brothers. He was subject to despondent spells and has before this threatened to end his life. It is supposed that the rash deed was committed while under one of his despondent spells, as no other reason can be assigned. His parents have the sympathy of many friends in their affliction.

The funeral will be held tomorrow

THEY STRUCK IT RICH.

It was a grand thing for this community that such an enterprising man as Arthur Bliss secured the agency for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, the wonderful remedy that has started the world by its marvelous cures. The furor of enthusiasm over it has boomed their business, as the demand for it is immense. He gives free trial bottles to sufferers, and positively guarantees it to cure Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Croup, and all Throat and Lung Troubles. A trial proves its merit. Price 50c and $1.00.

The Lawrence Machine company, owners of the number of orders on hand, is obliged to run both a night and day crew.

The fire engineers have given the firemen permission to enter the E. A. Straw steamer for the muster at North Andover next Saturday. It has not been fully decided as yet, however, whether the steamer will be taken to the muster. The old engine has played at musters and on two or three occasions was the winner of a prize. It is expected that the local department will be well represented at the coming muster.

It is expected that in a very few days work will begin on the construction of the sewer on Broadway between Brown street and Oakland avenue. The necessary machinery and implements, derricks, etc., have been shipped and are expected here today. When these have arrived the work will be begun. The Broadway sewer will be constructed in the middle of the street, beginning at Ingalls bridge. In order to facilitate its construction, a temporary electric car track will be constructed to allow the cars to run, and the old track will be left in its present position. One side of the street will be used exclusively by the electric cars and materials for the construction of the sewer and the other side will be left unobstructed for the passage of teams. By this arrangement the travelling public will not be put to any inconvenience by the construction of the sewer in that locality.

Surprised by Friends.

An interesting event took place Monday night at 24 Pelham street, marking the occasion of the 84th birthday of Mrs. Emily Eaton Davis, who has been residing in the house of Mr. Gilbert Bowen, but who is now breaking up her home to go to Denver, Col., to live with her nephew. Her long residence in that neighborhood had made for her many friends, and a few of these conceived the idea of giving her a farewell party on her birthday. Accordingly she was invited away for the afternoon and then the immediate neighbors proceeded to transform the lawn. Streamers of bunting adorned the entrance, while small tables and chairs gave a very inviting aspect to the grounds. Two long supper tables were spread, and looked very attractive, with the silver, glass, cut flowers and vines, to say nothing of the fruit and real substantial—with which they were adorned. When Mrs. Davis was brought back she was truly surprised, but soon recovered powers of speech and was able to respond to the hearty words of greeting and congratulations given by those present. Later, after the good things provided had been eaten, Miss Camella Howe gave an informal talk upon the principal events in Mrs. Davis' life in a very interesting manner and closed with an impromptu address in which all joined with lemonade, and to which Mrs. Davis responded with a few words of appreciation and good feeling. Some 30 cards were left by those present. Among them were:

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Bowen, Mr. and Mrs. George Silver, Mrs. O. S. Veazie, Miss Cora Veazie, Mrs. Nellie Veazie, Mrs. Lucy Gilmore, Mr. and Mrs. John Hill, Mrs. D. H. Patterson, Mrs. James Foy, Miss Fannie McDuffie, Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. John Sawyer, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Howe, Miss Camella Howe, Mrs. A. A. Gove, Mrs. A. G. Russell, Mrs. Lydia Cross, Miss Nancy Kimball, Mrs. Mary Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Crowell, Miss Ardella C. Crowell, Mr. and Mrs. John Ferguson, and Mrs. Marion and Miss Emma Eaton from Lawrence.

Mrs. Davis, in whose honor the event was held, is a remarkably smart and well preserved woman and has much of the history of the United States to look back upon as well as her own. Born in 1817, the country was hardly settled from the war of 1812. Then came the Mexican war, while the whole struggle of the civil war came within her mature recollections, as well as our recent Spanish conflicts. Only three presidents had served before her time, and it would seem her memory must be a well filled storehouse of public events. Her childhood was passed at her birthplace, Grover's corner, Methuen, where her father, M. Eaton, had a hat shop, which created quite a thriving settlement in that district. The little red schoolhouse, where she went to school, has been replaced by the present school building on the same spot. It will be interesting to many to know that Miss Olive Park, whose name was for so many years connected with the Methuen public schools, was one of Mrs. Davis early instructors, and that she was a very popular and successful teacher.

Miss Emily Eaton married George G. Davis of Billerica in 1849 at Lawrence. Part of her married life was passed in Maine, where Mr. Davis died in 1891. Soon after this she came with her mother to live and has made her home since then for the most part in one neighborhood. Her many friends heartily congratulate her upon the pleasant occasion of her 84th birthday and wish her health and happiness for many more years to come, and continued prosperity in her new home in the west.

DUDLEY-GILMAN NUPTIALS.

A pretty home wedding took place last evening at 7.30 o'clock at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Dudley, 42 Lowell street this town, when their daughter Sarah M. was united in marriage to Dana E. Gilman, a popular conductor on the street railway. The ceremony was performed at 7.30 o'clock by Rev. W. T. Bouttenhouse, pastor of the M. E. church, and was witnessed by many friends of the contracting parties. Miss Maud Dudley, sister to the bride, was bridesmaid, and Albert Richardson of this town was best man. The bride looked very attractive in a gown of white silk, trimmed with lace. She carried bride roses. The bridesmaid was dressed in a gown of the same material. The services were performed in the parlor which was prettily decorated with flowers for the occasion. After the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home, when the happy couple received the hearty congratulations of their many friends. They left during the evening amid showers of rice, for an extended wedding trip, and upon their return they will make their home at 91 Holly street, Lawrence.

Dr. Harry Edward Siske, who has located in Salem, N. H., is known in this town, where he has often been the guest of Dr. J. R. Berwick. He was an associate of Dr. Berwick on the medical staff at the state farm at Bridgewater and is a young man of remarkable talents. He attended Dr. Berwick's cases in this town while the latter was away on his wedding trip some months ago.

Miss Elizabeth J. Howe has returned from a five weeks' vacation spent at Christmas Cove, Maine.

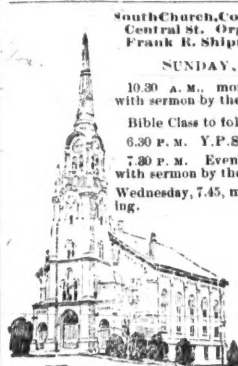

Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Brown are at the Young's cottage at Salisbury beach.

A YOUNG LADY'S LIFE SAVED.

At Panama, Columbia, by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Dr. Chas. U. Utter, a prominent physician, of Panama, Columbia, in a recent letter states: "Last March I had for a patient a young lady sixteen years of age, who had a very bad attack of dysentery. Everything I prescribed for her proved ineffectual and she was growing worse every hour. Her parents were sure she would die. She had become so weak that she could not turn over in bed. What to do at this critical moment was a study for me, but I thought of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and as a last resort prescribed it. The most wonderful result was effected. Within eight hours she was feeling much better, inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of one week was entirely well." For sale by all druggists.

The Mechanics Brass band will give a concert from 8 to 10 in the evening.

J. T. Remmes of Lawrence will furnish the food for dinner.

The fire alarm boxes were not tested today because of the weather.

ANDOVER NEWS

BASEBALL

Andover 7; Red Stockings 5.

The Andover baseball team again were victorious Saturday, when on the campus they defeated for the first time the Red Stockings of North Andover. Manager Maloney had some difficulty in getting up a nine as three of his regular players were away, but substitutes were found to fill the vacant positions. Phil Reed was unable to pitch and "Clint" Pomeroy took his place in the box, McNally catching, Maloney going to third, a new position for him, but which he filled most acceptably.

The Red Stockings had a strong nine in the field and made a strong bid for the game but the local players were equal to them on every occasion and outplayed them at all points. Curley twirled for the visitors, but received poor support from his catcher. He struck out nine men, but was hit at times when hits meant runs. Halcy played the best fielding game for the Red Stockings. Pomeroy pitched a very creditable game for the local team, and allowed his opponents but four hits. All of the runs scored against him were unearned. He also fielded his position well. Buchan and Mander played a splendid game at shortstop accepting all their chances. Mander also led his side at the bat.

Andover scored four runs in the fourth inning by a succession of five singles, a sacrifice by Maloney, and an out, and three more in eighth by bunting hits. In all other innings they were blanked in hits and runs. The Red Stockings scored their runs on two singles and errors.

ANDOVERS.
	P	PO	A
McNally c	1	5	1
Maloney 2b	1	2	3
Buchan ss	1	2	4
Mander 2b	2	1	3

Umpires, Whitney and Drew.

The "Has Beens" a newly organized baseball team of South Lawrence, scored its first victory Saturday afternoon by defeating a team from Andover by a score of 23-12 in a game which was very close and exciting up to the seventh inning when the pitcher of the young Andovers seemed to grow weak and the "Has Beens" batted the ball all over the field. The fielding of both teams was fine and the batting of the "Has Beens" was wonderful. The game was played on the Andover street grounds. The batteries were McNally and Donovan; Daly and Lester. The umpires were Gibbs and Smythe.

The Reading Chronicle of August 3, copies the table of comparison in regard to taxes compiled and published recently in the Townsman. The Chronicle takes but one exception to the table, which it highly praises and that is that Reading's population is given at over 5000, which that paper says is news to most Reading people.

Work has been suspended on the erection of the cottage house for Chas. Clark, on the Whittier lot on Summer street. Objection has been raised to the building of the house and the matter is in a lawyer's hands. The two tenement house for the same party is now ready for the plasterers.

The committee from the Lawrence Caledonian club to make arrangements for the annual field day at Haggett's pond, Saturday, Aug. 17, has arranged a list of sports, and $200 in prizes will be distributed. It was also voted to engage the American orchestra, and the pipers of the club will also furnish music. Many Andover Caledonians, members and non-members will attend.
